LODGE NOTES

William R. Balcom, secretary of the Norwich lodge, No. 430, B. P. O. E., has received a communication from the office of the Grand Exalted Ruler in New Orleans, relative to the national con-vention which will be held this year in Boston, Mass., and which is as fol-

July, that it is the duty of the Grand Exalted Ruler to communicate to the order in general what, after consultation, has been concluded.

It has now been the unbroken present of half a century for the order to annually assemble, and nothing has dene more than this to cement us together and to attengthen the distinctively national character of the order or statewide Elk reunions, beneficial though they are in some feaeficial though they are in some fea-tures, take from rather than add to this result.

If the Boston meeting was a detriment at this time to the nation at large, whatever good it might do to the Order of Elks, it should not be

It is perfectly clear that while this nation is the richest and most power-ful in the world, and that the patriotful in the world, and that the patriotism of the people is great, this patriotism is not thoroughly aroused and those riches and power are not fully prepared to certainly prevail in a struggle with other strong nations.
Hence, it is that our our country's leaders are devoting their energies to arousing dormant patriotism into ac-tion and making its resources fitted for the tasks that He before us.

The Order of Elks is not a American order, but it a great prac-tical order, and we should respond to the line of action suggested by the leaders of the nation. The task, howthe Unsettlement Was Caused by Another sver, is one of many months and hot of a few days. But two months will pass before the Boston meeting, and by it much good can be done in this direction. New York, May 11.—High grade stocks, especially rails, were subjected to renewed pressure in today's duil and ever, is one of many months and not of much good can be done in this direction.

Our duty then is clear—we should more than ever meet this year, because we have a higher task to do. The social and fraternal features should be lessened and the practical and patriotic features brought to the front.

Not a summer pleasure, but as a real duty, all good Elks should assemble this year and help to consider and wisely determine what the order in the future should undertake.

Should we devote our energies to encouraging enlistment Should 'le aid in the Red Cross and its noble work? Should we bend our efforts to prevent a lack of foed supply? What is the problem we are best fitted for to help to solve? I do not know.

The Grand Lodge should determine it. The good Elks should sit at its work? Should we bend our efforts to prevent a lack of foed supply? What is the problem we are best fitted for to help to solve? I do not know.

The Grand Lodge should determine it. The good Eiks should sit at its council heard.

The scene for this great epoch in Elikdom is set in the spiential city of Boston, at the food of Bunker Hill, within sight of Lexington and Concord and near the classic shades of Harvard. Here lies the very cradle of American liberties and American letters. Rich with the traditions of our country's past, no better place could be found for the great American Order in assemble and Crink in the reserved inspiration given by the scenes that surround thi shistoric town. We will return to our horses will stronger devetion to our cause and higher resolves to do our full cut; by the nation.

May not the order ask that its membership justify its successful past and guarante a more secure future by atterding, every man who can, this most important reseting and determining the Enes of its destiny for years to come?

House statement. Any contraction in this item will result largely from large gold payments to the federal reserve bank.

Aside from the declines in rails, which ranged from one to two points in St. Paul, Reading, New York Ceptral and Canadian Pacific, utilities were most adversely affected. American Telephone and Telegraph was increasingly active at a gross recession of 3-4 points to 116 1-4, the lowest price in almost two years, and tractions were easier.

United States Steel made an extreme gain of 5-8 of a point to 116 5-8, but fell to 115 1-2 in the last hour, where the list drifted to lowest quotations of the session. Industrial Alcohol being the only notable exception to the general tendency.

Metals, related equipments and over a score of popular specialties also forfeited formoon advances of one to three points, the market closing with a heavy lone.
